Vol. II No. 4

Dear Customer:

Thank you for your enthusiastic response to our Spring INJ. Much of our better material was sold quickly, so the past month has been a busy one, attending our shows to purchase new coins for our inventory.

If you are a Dollar Collector, this is your lucky month. We recently purchased a large collection of Morgan and Peace Dollars, and are offering them here for the first time. While we are known for always carrying an extensive Dollar inventory, this purchase contained a quantity of exceptionally nice pieces. Please don't hesitate to call one of our professional numismatists and reserve some select dates from this superb group.

Don't forget about our new extended hours. We'll be open till 8:30 p.m. on Mondays and on Saturday, we'll be here from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. to help you with any of your numismatic needs.

Also, remember that the ANA is fast approaching, and as official Auctioneer for the Convention, we can report that the sale is over 75% full. Don't delay, and call Steve Ivy Numismatic Auctions today to reserve space for your consignment to the year's most prestigious sale.

Sincerely,

Michael W. Sherman

WASHINGTON — The Senate Finance Committee is now drawn into the budget battle as the month of April closes without action on a major tax bill.

As many of you know, the repeal of the Collectibles Provision is directly linked to the next major tax bill. Without a bill there will be no action on the repeal.

Congressional forecasters (including the law firm hired by the National Association of Numismatic Professionals, "NANP") now predict independent budget action by both the Senate and the House.

The Senate Finance Committee — where Senate sponsored tax legislation originates — will be responsible for writing a bill which should generate approximately $25 billion in additional revenue. It is anticipated by the forecasters that a bill will be produced by the end of May. It is on this bill that the fortunes of the repeal of the Collectibles Provision will ride.

Hawaiian Residents — Senator Matsunaga of your state has just announced his opposition to the repeal of the Collectibles Provision. In an interview with the NASP (National Association of Stamp Dealers) Washington attorneys, Senator Matsunaga stated his opposition without explaining his reasoning.

This is the first "Nay" vote on the repeal of the Collectibles Provision registered by the NANP. Many of the Key Senators on the Finance Committee are still uncommitted, while six affirmative votes are registered. Those in the affirmative are as follows: Moynihan (N.Y.), Bentsen (Tx.), Mitchell (Me.), Durenberger (Mn.), Symms (Id.), and Baucus (Mt.). Those still undecided are as follows: Dole (Ks.), Packwood (Or.), Roth (De.), Danforth (Mo.), Chafee (R.I.), Long (La.), Byrd (Va.), Heinz (Pa.), Wallop (Wy.), Armstrong (Co.), Grassley (Ia.), Boren (Ok.), and Bradley (N.J.).

Thanks are due to the hundreds who wrote recently to their Senators. However, there are many of you who have not yet written.

To change the law, your Senator — especially those listed above as undecided on the Senate Finance Committee — need to hear from you. Write and tell them : (1) you support the repeal of the Collectibles Provision as contained in S.1645; (2) it's your retirement and you want the freedom to choose your investment; (3) you want their active support of S.1645. Your Senator's address is: Senator (Senator's Name), U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Action is now expected before the end of May. Please write today!
